Fourth Annual Combating Racial Injustice Workshop

This workshop will focus on addressing racial disparities in the criminal justice system in the State of Virginia and the nation.

Why?

To understand the nature and extent of racial injustice in the criminal justice system and the impact it is having within our communities; to learn more about working to alleviate this problem; and to network with others interested and engaged in this issue.

What?

Workshops: processes in combating criminal injustice; citizens responding to and intervening in racial injustice issues; and brainstorming breakout sessions

Who?

Workshop leaders: featuring Stories from South Central (prisoner support group from southern Western Virginia)

Also, Ashley Sharpe and Krissy Colvin (Virginia Tech Students); Andy Morikawa and Wornie Reed (VA Tech and Dialogue on Race).
